What is an internet credential service provider?

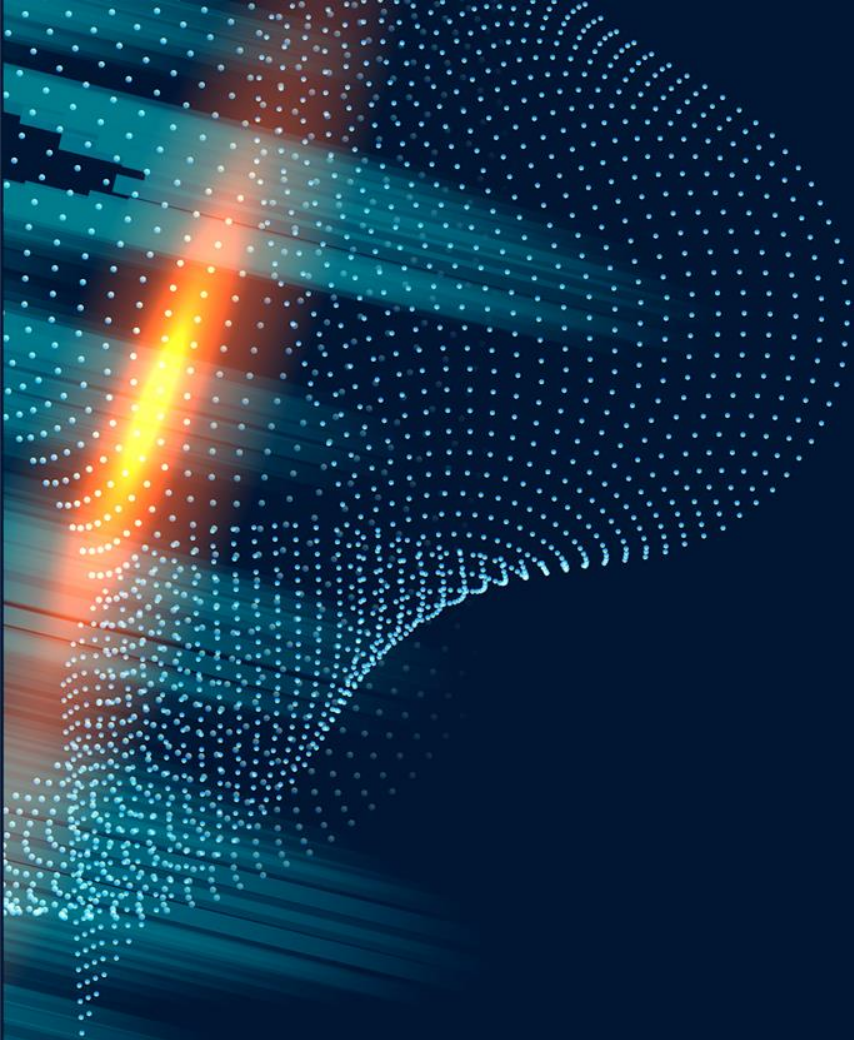

-Developed for the first time by Uptadenet about creating internet credentials

Software is an example of a program or application.

Users will be able to access certificates via Info and have the right to generate certificates for their network connections.

Information will be automatically sent to the e-mail addresses written by the users with their internet credentials. -Info means information, it is a universal name within the scope of information technologies.

In addition, Info is used as e-mail communication and press domain mail by today's companies and holdings, and at the same time, creating and sending signatures to the sent e-mails provides additional security for the recipient e-mail accounts. -Info is also a multi-functional Turkish, English and German language supported application where users can provide remote access technical service, update services, system acceleration and leave fault records.
